ROTC selects queen, Campus cheers champs

Sandy Van Arsdall was named hanarary cadet colanel af the Evansville College ROTC detachment at the annual Military Ball April 18, 1964 in Carson Center.

Sandy was chasen by a papular vote af all ROTC cadets. Other finalists were Billie Sue Stirn and Bannie Washingtan. All are members af Angel Flight, an hanarary graup spansared by Arnold Air Saciety.

In ather Spring activities, E.C. students cheered the basketball Aces at a special pep gathering an the frant lawn of the campus. Special guests were the players, caaches, and representatives af lacal news media.

The Unian Board hasted the secand haatenanny as students heard the Kinsmen fram Sauthern Illinais University sing papular falk sangs and ballads.

More than 300 couples danced beneath the umbrella of a parachute, to the music of the Military Air Transport Band.

Cheerleaders Kendra Beesley, Connie Krause, Joy Hankins, Beth Edwards, Connie Hughey and Dennis Armour lead yells at the pep rally on the front lawn before the final championship game of the N.C.A.A. small college basketball tournament.

Peace and quiet may be found in many places on E.C.'s campus. Bab Miles found solitude one spring day in front of the Union Building.

The Kinsmen from Southern Illinois University perform at the hootenanny for 350 bermuda-clad students in the Great Hall of the Union Building.

Peter,

Eight condidotes for the Miss E.C. title were Niro Zuraske, Suzanne Zoieck, Barbaro Robinson, Tammi Neu, Jill Montgomery, Jeanne McCulley, Carol Blackburn, ond Kendro Beesley.

Kendra Beesley smiled with pride ond hoppiness after she was chosen Miss Evansville College of 1964.

Peter, Paul, and Mary highlighted the second Spring Weekend for Evansville College students.

An audience of 4,100 listened as the trio sang folk songs and ballads at the opening event April 24.

Friday night eight coeds vied for the Miss Evansville College crown, which was won by Kendra Beesley. Other candidates in the contest were Jill Montgomery, first runner-up, Carol Blackburn, second runner-up, Tammi Neu, Jeanne McCulley, Barbara Robinson, Suzanne Zaieck, and Nira Zuroske.

The planning and supervision of the Spring Weekend were organized by The Club "39", under the leadership of Don Vogel.

After the program, students crowded oround Mory ta obtain her outogroph.

The Delta Lambda chapter of Phi Mu was chartered on the Evansville College campus in 1952. Nationally the sorority was founded at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia, on March 4, 1852.

The annual Presentation Ball, the only formal Greek dance on the campus, is one of the highlights on the Phi Mu social calendar. At this dance the pledge class is presented to the faculty of the college.

Phi Mu's are active in all campus organizations and events. One project of the Phi Mu's is the adoption of Dale Vaughn, a seven-year-old orphan at the Hillcrest Home. They visit Dale very often and take her along with them to sports events, the zoo, and "downtown" shopping.

The pink carnation is the Phi Mu flower, and the official colors are pink and white. Dr. Wilma Schafer, associate professor of education, is faculty advisor for the chapter.

of SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Anito Ruckmon
Sigma Alpha Epsilon Sweetheart

The Indiana Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was chartered on the Evansville College campus December 15, 1957. Nationally, SAE was founded in January of 1856 at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

The local chapter has a lion gracing the lawn of their house, as is traditional of chapters across the nation. In the spring, the local SAE's invite their mothers for the Mother's Day Weekend. Another annual affair on the SAE social calendar is their Casino Party, held during the fall rush months.

Official SAE colors are gold and violet, and the official flower is the violet. Mr. Millard Pace, assistant professor of marketing, is the chapter advisor.

Zeta Beta Chapter

of Tau Kappa Epsilon

Jean Dezelan
Tau Kappa Epsilan Sweetheart

Zeta Beta chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon was chartered at Evansville College in May of 1957. Teke was founded as a national fraternity in January of 1899 at Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Ill. It ranks as the largest international fraternity, with 212 chapters in the United States and Canada.

Locally, the Tekes annually sponsor an all-campus lawn party in the fall, treat orphans to an Easter egg hunt in the spring, and terminate social activities with their traditional Red Carnation Ball. This fall the Tekes topped all fraternities in scholarship. This year the Tekes added a mascot to their chapter house, a Doberman pinscher named Penny.

The red carnation is the official flower of the fraternity, and the official colors are cherry and gray. Mr. Birk Harl, instructor of sociology, is faculty advisor and Mr. A. C. Biggs, superintendent of buildings and grounds, is chapter advisor.

Greek Organizations sponsor formal dances

Each of the Greek organizations on campus sponsors a spring formal at which time each fraternity or sorority names a sweetheart or favorite guy.

Alpha Omicron Pi sorority chose their "AOPi Favorite Guy," Earl McCurdy, at a dance at the Evansville Country Club. The Chi Omega's also chose the Country Club as the site of their formal where they named Dave Land "Chi O Man of the Year." Phi Mu elected Dave Matthiesen their "Phi Mu Flame" at a dance at the Hotel McCurdy. Harry Ransdell was named Zeta Tau Alpha favorite guy at a dance at the Open Gate.

The men of Lambda Chi Alpha traveled to the Owensboro Motor Inn for their formal and named Gayla Dame the 1964 "Crescent Girl." Sigma Alpha Epsilon named Anita Ruckman their sweetheart at a dance at the Elks Lodge. The men of Sigma Phi Epsilon selected Jean Petr as their sweetheart at a dance at the Vendome Hotel. The Open Gate was the scene for the Tau Kappa Epsilon spring formal, where Jean Dezelan was named Teke sweetheart.

Freshmen name queen at Icebreaker Dance

Two social activities gave students a change of pace from the back-ta-school routine of registratian and adjustment to new teachers, classroams, and raommates. The Icebreaker Dance honoring incoming freshmen and an Activities Day were scheduled for the beginning of the fall quarter.

Susan Palmer, a nursing major from Speedway, Ind., was crawned Icebreaker Queen at the dance in Carson Center Sept. 26. Other freshman candidates were Sue Schelosky, of Evansville; Peggy Ferriel, af Terrace Park, O.; Jan Fitzpatrick, of Evansville; Leanne Howerter, of Quincy, Ill.; Lizette Burns, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Treva Alldredge, of Mt. Vernon, Ind. The queen was elected by freshmen who attended the dance.

Union Board sponsored Activities Day Oct. 6—a day in which students were able to jain campus clubs and organizations.

Evansville College's four social sororities pledged 58 women Oct. 3 to culminate three weeks of rush activities.

Phi Mu pledged 19 women, Alpha Omicron Pi, 16, Zeta Tau Alpha, 15, and Chi Omega, 8.

Rush activities began with the sororities entertaining prospective pledges at casual rotation parties in the suites at Moore Hall. The following week, the sororities feted rushees at informal theme parties also staged in the Moore Hall suites. Sorority actives are hostesses at formal rush dessert parties, the final event on the fall rush calendar.

The rushees were pledged the following Saturday and began their pledgeship by donning "pledge pods" and entertaining actives at slumber parties at the fraternity houses.

The winning Lambda Chi Alpha display depicted little elves scurrying to paint the Ball State Cardinals purple.

Lambda Chi Alpha, men's division, Phi Mu, women's division, and Hughes Hall, Class A division, captured first place victories in the 1964 Homecoming display competition.

Runner-up in the men's division was Sigma Phi Epsilon with a display entitled "Still 'Em Aces." Runner-up in the women's division was Alpha Omicron Pi with a display, "There's a Victory Brewing." Second place in the Class A division went to Tau Kappa Epsilon for their display, "Stack the Cards, Aces."

Organizations competed for trophies in the Saturday morning activities, and cars filled with students paraded to Reitz Bowl for the Homecoming game which saw the grid Aces defeated by Ball State, 23—16.

The 1964 Homecoming dance "Ghost Sonata," held at Carson Center, on Halloween night, ended the day's activities. Marilyn McCutchan and Dale Hennessey were general chairmen of the entire Homecoming weekend.

A giant faatball player with the mechanical ability to cage a Cardinal was placed in front af Hughes Hall. The display was entitled "Cage 'Em Aces."

Ground cleared for Neu Chapel

Athletic events, Journalism Day, campaign visits, and a Watermelon Bust—these were all a part of the fall activities on campus.

The E.C. football team started the season with a winning streak. Some 288 students from 22 high schools attended Journalism Day, sponsored by Evansville College and The Evansville Courier.

Groundbreaking for the $400,000 Neu Chapel was begun this fall. The limestone building, with a seating capacity of 500, is scheduled for completion by the fall of 1965.

Several politicians—Hubert Humphrey, William Scranton, Vance Hartke and Birch Bayh—visited the campus prior to the Nov. 4 election.

AUTHOR'S NOTE

Banners of Steel is one of a quartet of plays on which I have been working for more than twenty years. These four plays are Lamp at Midnight, The Man Who Never Died, Coat of Many Colors, and Banners of Steel, which presents John Brown and his raid on Harper's Ferry.

Each play is independent in itself; however, they have a common theme—the problems of men in advance of their times, the impact they have on their society, the counter-thrust which society exerts on them. The plays also dramatize the dynamics by which the heresy of one age becomes the accepted truth of the next.

John Brown was goaded forward by the ferocious agony of his vision, which makes him cry, "Let my body bleed with the afflicted." But the world was too much for him. He came to failure and, for a time, plunged into an abyss of revulsion and self-hatred. The glory of this man is that he was transfigured. True, he was hanged, but his truth gathered strength and numbers. He was ultimately vindicated.

The events dramatized in Banners of Steel took place 105 years ago. However, the moral questions of human responsibility which are raised in the play are with us today. When justice and equality prevail for all mankind, Banners of Steel will become an "historical" play. Until then, it will remain highly contemporary.

—Barrie Stavis
November, 1964

Three men who figured prominently in the production of Banners of Steel discuss chonges in the ploy. They ore Som Smiley, who played the lead role of John Brown, Barrie Stavis, ploywright, ond Dudley Thomas, director.

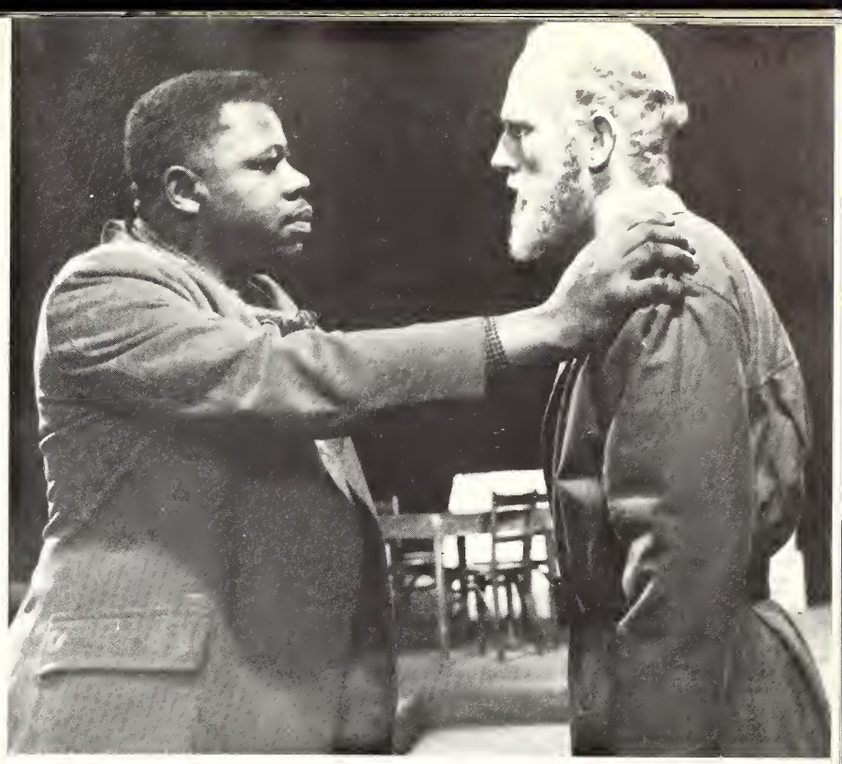
Banners of Steel



Banners of Steel, Barrie Stavis's play on Jahn Brawn's raid on Harper's Ferry, was presented Nav. 4.

The E.C. praduction was a revised versian af the Banners of Steel play presented by Sauthern Illinois University in 1961.

The three-act play was presented 10 times in three-quarter "thrust" staging.

Act One was set at a farm hause where Jahn Brawn gathered an army cansisting of escaped slaves and athers layal ta his cause.

Act Twa concerned the raid an Harper's Ferry and the capture af Jahn Brawn. Act Three depicted the trial and canvictian of John Brawn and his last meeting with his wife Mary an the evening before he is ta be hanged.

Union Board sponsors Superstition Dance

According to legend, Friday the thirteenth is a day to beware. However, the Union Board took advantage of the date and sponsored a Superstition Dance Friday, Nov. 13.

Admission price was 13 cents. The Union Patio and Grill were decorated with ladders, black cats, horseshoes, and superstitious sayings. The Personalities, a collegiate dance band, provided music for dancing.

A program commemorating the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare was sponsored by the Evansville College English Department in November.

The program, entitled "A Tribute to Shakespeare," consisted of a series of readings. Mrs. Sam Smiley, Miss Ann Stuart, and Dr. Paul Grabill read excerpts from various plays by Shakespeare.

December 1, the House Committee of the Union, under the chairmanship of Leland Moon, sponsored a Christmas Decorating party in the Union Building. Dorinda Dudley and Ramona Kiefer were co-chairmen of the event.

Six teams went an a scavenger hunt at the Superstition Dance and faund such items as ice cubes, license plates, a white caat hanger, black cat, Bayer aspirin battle and a map of Evansville.

The Union Board, more correctly the Union Management Board, is an elected board of nine students who head the various committees. The members of the committees are named each fall after students sign preference lists at Activities Day. A group of students who have served on Union committees for two or more years becomes the Core Committee.

The Social Life Committee has charge of the annual Ice Breaker dance each September. The basketball queen crowning and the May Day program are planned by this committee.

Record hops and Musical Madness are planned by members of the Dance Committee. An all-campus Christmas party was planned by the Entertainment Committee.

Homecoming mums and tickets for Musical Madness were the two main projects of the Finance Committee, which is in charge of all money-making projects. The spring Union Board election is also its responsibility.

Ladies Day in the billiard room comes under the sponsorship of the Games Committee. Ping pong, pool, bridge and billiard tournaments are sponsored during winter quarter.

The HiFi set in the music room and books in the reading room are handled by the House Committee, which put up the large Christmas tree in the Union lobby this year. The Publicity Committee makes and displays posters and handles publicity. Personnel Committee members plan Activities Day and the Fall Workshop.

Young Democrats and Young Republicans

The Young Democrats and Young Republicans were especially busy last Fall because of the Presidential election. Both groups were involved in the planning of welcomes for visiting dignitaries.

Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey was the first nationally prominent figure to speak at Evansville College during the Presidential campaign. The Young Democrats gave him a warm welcome with signs and shouts of approval. The vice-president was accompanied by U. S. Senators Vance Hartke and Birch Bayh, Mayor Frank McDonald, Congressman Winleld K. Denton, Governor Roger Branigin and former Governor Matthew Welsh. The rally was held in front of the Administration Building. Young Democrats welcomed President Lyndon B. Johnson and Lady Bird to Evansville with a delegation of Johnson Girls at Dress Memorial Airport.

Young Republicans were hard at work supporting Presidential Candidate Barry Goldwater, who visited Evansville just before school opened in September. Members greeted Governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania as he spoke to students from a platform on the lawn in front of the Administration Building. GOP girls distributed literature to the crowd who gathered to hear Gov. Scranton praise Arizona's senator.

Local political figures accompanied Governor Scranton and some made brief remarks about the upcoming election.

Roger Zion, Republican candidate for State Congress from the eighth district, spoke to the Young Republicans in the Union Lounge.

After the election, both organizations continued to be active. The groups frequently invited local political figures to speak at meetings.

Aces achieve perfect 24—0 record

Evansville College, combining a fast-break offense with a sticky man-to-man defense, enjoyed its finest hour in basketball by posting a sparkling 24—0 regular season record.

Coach Arad McCutchan's Aces presented their rabid followers with everything from seven 100-point productions to two heart-stopping, one-point victories over neighboring Southern Illinois University. With All-Americans Jerry Sloan and Larry Humes setting the pace both offensively and defensively, the Aces defied pre-season prognostications by slapping down University Division foes Iowa, Northwestern, Notre Dame, George Washington, Louisiana State, and Massachusetts. Indiana Collegiate Conference opponents found the EC basketball machine precision-honed with an unprecedented third straight championship.

Humes paced Evansville scorers with a 32 points per game average. He broke the old ICC season scoring mark of 323 points with 403 in 12 league games, and established a new school scoring mark with 768 points. Sloan and Sam Watkins both posted 17-point scoring averages, while Russ Grieger and Herb Williams flirted with the 10-point mark throughout the season. As a team, the Aces averaged nearly 95 points per game and 50 rebounds. It also was a red-letter year for Coach Arad McCutchan as he passed the 300 mark in career victories.

The Aces were ranked No. 1 the entire season by both United Press International and Associated Press sports writers. The team received national recognition from Time, Sports Illustrated, Newsweek, and Ebony magazines. By virtue of their outstanding season, the Aces were selected to participate in the post-season NCAA College Division South Central Regional at Louisville, Ky., to open defense of their 1964 national title.

Professor Deon Long and his wife, Katherine, relox in their home on Mulberry Street.

relationship with the community in which it is situated as any college in the nation," according to Ralph Olmsted, business manager of the College. "Much of the credit goes to Dean Long for the intelligent and consistent way in which he has dealt with the problems of College-Community relations."

"Many colleges and universities do not tie-in with the communities in which they are located, but Dean Long has tied Evansville College in with the business community," said Norman Shane, vice-president of Shane Manufacturing Company.

"He has become a part of the business community and has learned the basic community and business problems from the business standpoint rather than from just the academic view," stressed Tom Gregory, business manager of the Evansville Printing Corporation.

"I have nothing but respect for him as a person and as an educator," he added. "I have nothing but respect for what he has done to further the growth of executives. Through his seminar classes, he has helped executives expand their backgrounds and others to become leaders."

Joseph Kalivoda, branch manager of Fruehauf Trailer Company, said, "He could have been a tremendous executive in industry with his background and knowledge. He preferred, however, to stay in education."

"He's been a good representative of Evansville College; his activities and his ability to participate have given the College a good reputation," said D. W. Vaughn, vice-president of Southern Indiana Gas and Electric Company.

Mr. Vaughn said, "I've worked with him in business as well as at the College. One asset to both the College and the business community was the program for co-operative engineering which he was partially responsible for setting up.

"He brought to Evansville the Evansville branch of the University of Chicago Industrial Relations Institute," he added. "Through that many persons have had an opportunity to gain additional training and education in their fields."

A native of Blakesburg, Ia., Dean Long quit school after the eighth grade to work on his father's 120-acre farm. Four years later, at the age of 17, he obtained a job in a bakery-confectionery and went to high school. Although he worked from 3 p.m. until 11 p.m. daily, he finished school as valedictorian of his class. He worked his way through Simpson College as a head-waiter in the girls' dorm and as a library janitor. At Simpson, he was president of his sophomore class and president of the Student Council.

He enrolled in the Harvard School of Business where he received a master's degree in business administration two years later. He came to Evansville College in 1929; he has held many jobs at the College including that of acting president in the 1954-55 school year.

Dean Long found so much to do that he never found the time to go back to school for his Ph.D. But he became Dr. Long last year when Dr. Ralph C. John, president of Simpson College, gave him the honorary doctorate of humanities.

This 1965 LinC is dedicated to Dean Long as a recorded appreciation for his many contributions to the advancement of Evansville and Evansville College.

A simple statement by Nicholas Brown, Dean of the College, expresses the administrative attitude toward Dean Long: "Although he has served the College faithfully for a long time, his contribution cannot be measured in years alone, for he has invested his talent as well as his time in the development of the College. His influence will be felt by students and faculty alike for years to come."

Acknowledgement

Dear Readers,

As editor of this LinC, I have attempted to outline the activities of the 1964-65 school year as thoroughly and accurately as possible. It is my feeling that a yearbook should really be a history book; a book that will enable posterity to learn what happened this year. It is also my feeling that yearbooks, like newspapers, should report the news by writing informative, concise copy and meaningful headlines. We hope that if a news event was not covered in pictures that it was covered in the body copy.

The LinC staff and I feel that we have prepared a book with a new look this year. A modern cover was designed by John Mominee, and modern layouts were prepared by Pete Bland, campus editor, in an effort to create a book with a modern theme. Division pages were patterned after the cover to effect continuity throughout the book.

Although there are many who are worthy, the staff and I feel that in dedicating this book to Dr. Dean Long we have selected a man who has contributed more to college-community relations than any other person at EC. In addition, we feel that Dr. Long's many contributions to the College have helped sustain its success and continued growth.

There are many people who are not credited in their efforts in producing this book. Each section editor and his assistants have put in many hours of work to obtain complete coverage of all events and all clubs, organizations and honoraries on campus. I would like to express my appreciation to those students in the yearbook production classes whose names are not listed on the staff page, but whose assistance has been invaluable.

I would like to thank Bill Adkins for photographing the clubs, honoraries and organizations and the three Evansville newspapers for giving us pictures when we needed them. A special thanks goes to Paul Hartman, assistant director of public relations, for obtaining information and pictures when they were needed.

Pete Bland deserves special praise for her work as campus editor and unofficial developer and printer of pictures. Pete went "beyond the call of duty" and spent many hours in the darkroom using her knowledge of photography when deadlines were imminent. I would like to personally thank Managing Editor Anneitta Moore for her research and skill in writing the dedication copy.

A yearbook is primarily a picture book and LinC photographers Donna Datzman, Marilyn Nonte, Barry Standley, Darrell Woehler, and Carolyn Schmitt deserve praise for a job well done. A special thanks goes to Donna who spent many hours setting up a valuable picture file. I would like to personally thank "unofficial" LinC photographers Jim Loving and Jim Crawford for providing us with pictures when they were needed.

Thanks goes to Bob Sakel, American Yearbook Company representative, for his valuable time, constant attention and advice.

Perhaps the person who has contributed the most to the production of this LinC is John H. Boyd, Jr., assistant professor of journalism, whose constructive criticism, patience and assistance pulled us through when success seemed uncertain.

Last, but not least, I would like to thank Mr. Blount Wagner and Mr. Wayne Royster, custodians, who opened many locked doors and cleaned up messy offices when the staff worked after hours in the department. There are many others who are responsible in one way or another for the success of this book, and, unfortunately, there is not enough room to thank them all. It has been the staff's objective to produce an attractive, informative, and new-looking book. It is our hope that we have indeed obtained this goal.

Sincerely,
